CLASS DAY PROGRAM GIVEN AT HIGH SCHOOL TUESDAY AFTERNOON

Members of Senior Class Have Full Sway at Meeting Held Today—Lively Time for Classmen.

One of the most interesting events of commencement week—Class Day—was celebrated at the High School auditorium Tuesday afternoon and despite the very warm weather, there was a good attendance.

For the last time the members of the graduating class had their own full sway in the program. The remainder of commencement week will be quite solemn to these grave Seniors but this afternoon everything was thrown to the four winds and for a time—the last time—the class members were boys and girls again.

The program was replete with jokes on members of the class, members of the faculty, school officials and others who have been identified with the school work for the year.

President Robert W. Power delivered the farewell address for the class and President Mitchell Matthews, of the Junior class, made the address for the class which shall assume the seriousness of Seniors with the opening of school next September and accepted all the responsibilities passed on to him by Mr. Power.

Mildred Proctor read the class history in which she brought again to light many of the pleasant times spent in old M. H. S. by members of the class just about to bid her halls farewell. The class song by William Smith was sung by the entire class and the class poem given by James Allen.

Quinn Martin read the class will in which he distributed duties, and responsibilities held by the 21 class members to others and Joe Wadsworth read a prophecy in which he predicted the future of the class members bringing forth many laughs. Cleon Brown and Georgia Simons were the class songsters, sang very beautifully "I Never Knew."

To many, Class Day is the best day of the whole week and this year it was indeed up to the high standard set by classes which have passed on before.

The music class of Miss Ilda Berry will give a recital at St. John's Hall Friday evening, June 17th, at 8 o'clock, to which the patrons and friends are invited.

ORANGEBURG SCHOOL BOOSTERS PLANNING BIG MEETING

Rally To Be Held at Early Date in the Interest of New High School at Orangeburg.

Mr. D. F. Campbell, member of the Mason County Board of Education from the Orangeburg precinct, was in Maysville Tuesday on business and making arrangements for a big school rally to be held at Orangeburg in the near future in the interest of a new High School building for that town.

For several months residents of the Orangeburg neighborhood who have been interested in the establishment of a High School there, have been taking some active steps toward realizing their ideal until now the new school seems almost within the reach of the community.

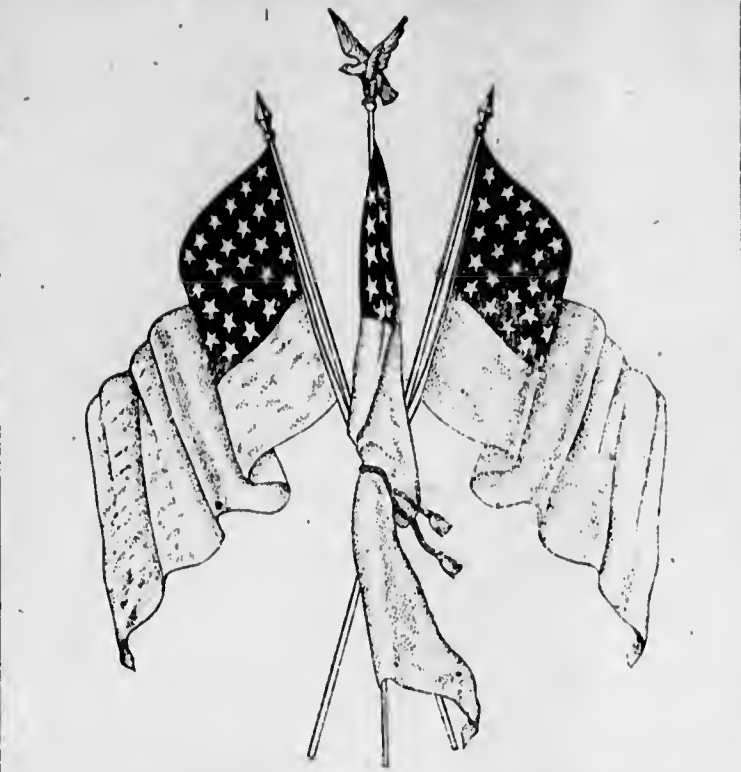

Mr. Campbell Tuesday was making arrangements for a rally in which all those interested might be brought together for some action. He was enabled to secure the services of the Mayville Boys Band and also secured the promise of Hon. James N. Kehoe to make an address. Mr. Campbell will also endeavor to have Dr. George Colvin, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, present for an address. The date of the rally and full particulars will be announced later.

FLEMINGSBURG PLANS BIG FOURTH-OF-JULY CELEBRATION.

The town of Flemingsburg is planning a great Fourth of July celebration for this year and has endeavored to secure the services of one of the Mayville Boys' Bands but as both the bands are to participate in the big local celebration, they could not accept this engagement. Manager Russell referred the Flemingsburg parties to the Mayslick band and they have secured that organization to furnish music for them.

GREAT RECORD IN WATER CASE QUICKLY PREPARED.

The record in the Mayville Water Company case is one of the largest that has been sent up to the Court of Appeals from Mason county. The case was returned Saturday morning and immediately many of the local stenographers were out to work on the job of transcribing it. The records were found and returned to the Court of Appeals today. Officials hope to have the high court review the case immediately.

FISCAL COURT WOULD HAVE SHERIFFS AGREE TO $5,000 SALARY

County Commissioners Adopt Resolution Asking That Candidates for Sheriff Agree to Accept $5,000 As Full Compensation.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Mason County Fiscal Court Tuesday morning at the court house, Commissioner Key offered the following resolution which was adopted:

"Section 4163, Kentucky Statutes relative to commissions allowed sheriff for the collection of taxes is not plain as to the maximum amount allowed for deputies and since this section can readily be misconstrued, this board feel it their duty in the protection of the tax payers' interest, to recommend that a committee of tax payers of this county present a contract of agreement to the various candidates for sheriff of this county for the four-year term beginning January 1st, 1922, that each of them will agree to accept the maximum amount ($5,000.00) allowed the sheriff under section 4163 of Kentucky statutes and the additional amount of $3,000.00 for remuneration of two deputies, which is a liberal allowance for the operation of the office. We recommend further that a record of all fees allowed the sheriffs to be kept and that said fees shall be included in the maximum amount of salary allowed the sheriff and his deputies.

At present the commissions for collection of taxes in Mason county, amount to an amount between $11,000.00 and $12,000.00 per year with probably $2,000 additional for fees of the office; and we do not think the legislature of this state intends that the sheriff of a county like Mason should receive a salary in excess of the Governor of the State, or Congressmen and Senators in the Federal Government or even a Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

We further recommend to our next Representative in the Legislature to advocate a change in the law, creating the office of tax collector for the collection of taxes in the various counties instead of the sheriff performing those duties, at a salary not to exceed $2,500 per year and an allowance of $2,000 for office help—and that the sheriff shall also be put on a salary basis.

At present about $1.00 of each $12.00 in taxes paid, goes to two officials in Mason county—Sheriff and Tax Commissioner, and since the general tax paying public are paying more taxes now than they can afford, the Legislative branch of the state should make every possible effort to curtail salaries commensurate with the service rendered.

FLAG DAY OBSERVED VERY QUIETLY HERE.

Flag Day was observed very quietly in Mayville this year. There was much display of the National colors but no public meeting was held. The local order of Elks held their annual Flag Day service at Elks' Home at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

CLUB GROUNDS BEST IN THIS SECTION, SAYS EXPERT

Golf and Tennis Grounds Laid-Out and Arrangements made for a Large Lake at Edgfield Club Site.

An expert club architect was in Mayville Monday for the purpose of laying-out the golf and tennis grounds, a suitable place for a club house and getting things generally ready for work to begin at finishing up details for the Edgfield Club to be located on the Glascock farm near Mayville.

This expert was loud in his praise of the location of the Edgfield Club and says it will be one of the best club grounds in this section of Kentucky or Ohio.

The officers of the club have decided to have a large lake dug on the grounds near the club house and work was begun this morning at cutting the grass. The expert will return on next Monday and begin the work of staking off the grounds.

Work on the erection of the club house will begin as soon as possible.

L. & N. OPERATOR AT WALTON IS HELD UP

Negro Bandits Hold-Up Telegraph Operator and Loot Railroad Till of $25.00.

Covington police were notified Monday night to be on the alert for three negroes who entered the L. & N. Railroad station at Walton, Ky., at 10:30 o'clock Monday night and robbed the cash drawer of $25, afterward making their escape.

John Stevenson, telegraph operator, was alone at the station when the bandits entered and was held up at the point of a revolver by the largest of the trio, while his smaller companions ransacked the money till.

While the armed robber still was poking his revolver uncomfortably near the face of the telegrapher, his confederate approached and made a movement as if to search their victim's pockets. At this moment the sound of an approaching passenger train warned the bandits that their game was over and they fled.

J. L. Reeves, station agent at Walton, coming down to meet the train, saw the three robbers in flight. Stevenson then wired an account of the robbery to C. H. V. Crankmylo, telegraph operator in the yards of the L. & N. Railroad at Latonia, and the story of the affair was relayed to the Covington police by him.

SLATTERY DECLINES TO RESIGN; MAY BE REMOVED.

Washington, June 13. — Thomas D. Slattery, District Attorney for the Covington District of Kentucky, has been asked by the Department of Justice to send in his resignation forthwith. He has replied, saying "it would be inconvenient for him to resign and, in effect, asking that the request be not pressed.

The request probably will be pressed, however, and if Mr. Slattery does not comply soon, he probably will be dismissed. His term would not expire in regular order for a year, but the Republican leaders recall that Edwin P. Morrow, when District Attorney, was dismissed before his term was out, and there is seen a determination to pay the Democrats back in their own coin.

INFANT DIES.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Humphreys died at the home of the parents on Fourth street Tuesday morning.

Mr. Brent Wood left Tuesday morning for Nashville for a month's visit with relatives.

OUR POLICY:
To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the county as a whole.

WAR DEBTS AND LIBERTY BONDS.

It was unofficially announced after the conference which the President held the other day with some of the most prominent and powerful financiers of the East, that the administration has tentatively proposed that the huge debts which the Allies owe this government be converted into bonds to be taken by the American investor in the place of Liberty Bonds. This, according to the advocates of the plan, will accomplish several very desirable ends. It will, by placing these obligations of the foreign governments in the hands of private investors, strengthen their sense of obligation and compel them, in order to protect their credit, to meet the interest charges promptly. Under the present conditions, the sums being due to the United States Treasury, the feeling exists among the Allies in spite of all that can be said, that somehow the loans were made for our own benefit and protection, and that this government is disposed to give them preferential treatment and await their convenience.

In the second place, such an arrangement would at once free the Treasury of a load of something like a billion dollars a year interest on Liberty Bonds, this burden being shifted to the various foreign powers whose bonds would be substituted for Liberties. The only alternative to this course seems to be the issuance of more bonds and the continued collection of huge sums in taxes. The cost of government is now from five to six billion dollars annually. Within a period of two and a half years obligations of the Treasury in the sum of seventeen billion dollars will mature.

It is, however, very doubtful whether such a plan will be acceptable to American investors. Certainly it will not be unless our own government guarantees both the interest and the principal of the debt.

There is also the question of our ability, in the present circumstances to absorb such vast sums, and the effect of making foreign investments of such staggering totals when the country needs money for railroad rehabilitation and industrial, agricultural and development projects.

If the entire debt of some eleven billion dollars were converted into long-time obligations and sold in the form of bonds to American purchasers at once, the effect, if it could be accomplished, would be calamitous upon ourselves. On the other hand, if the bonds were of several issues, scattered over a period of years, the offering price would have to be made more attractive each time, and prospective investors would naturally wait on the later issues.

However, men like Mr. Mellon, Mr. Hoover and the President himself, seem to feel that such a plan is worth discussing. The big bankers called into conference have not felt justified at this stage in making any official observations.

Some means will have to be found of meeting our rapidly maturing obligations, of reducing taxation, of financing the railroads and other enterprises, of opening up the markets of Europe to our exporters, and of collecting our debts abroad. The mere statement of the case in this concrete fashion will enable us to realize what a serious and formidable task the present administration faces—and all of us together.

Secretary Weeks, who is a financier of great ability, and a successful banker, said the other day:

"This is an infinitely greater task than was ever undertaken by any nation in the world in time of peace, and there is no one, skilled in financial operations though he may be, who does not view the prospect with more or less alarm. With this situation facing us it is the height of folly to undertake new commitments if they can be avoided, and I assume that no one will dissent from that proposition."

Most of the German people wish they had never heard of the war. They realize that it was colossal blunder and are eager to pay the penalty and once more be received back into the company of nations. —William G. Seckendorf, German manufacturer.

Protective Tariff Expected to Again
Prove To Country It Means Prosperity.

Washington, D. C. — Members of Congress who are studying the new tariff act in the making are convinced that it will restore prosperity after the economic depression which naturally resulted from the tariff-for-revenue policies of the Wilson administration.

These members have examined the records and are convinced that the tariff works with the exactness of the law of cause and effect in its relation to good and bad times in the United States. Under the Wilson tariff the country suffered from a prolonged financial panic during the Cleveland administration. Under the McKinley protective tariff there was abundant prosperity. This was continued under the schedules of the Payne-Aldrich law. But during the first seven months of operation of the Underwood act in the first year of the Wilson administration soup kitchens were the rule. Longer industrial idleness was prevented by the declaration of war between England and Germany, because this raised a tariff wall which was so high that importations were impossible. With our own market secure and trade in all goods needed in war-racked Europe, our prosperity was unexampled. But with the armistice the wall was removed and the country was again left to the protectionless rates of the Underwood law. Foreign goods entered the country without stint. The result was that when President Wilson went out of office March 4 three millions of men were admitted by officials of his own choosing in the Department of Labor to be out of work. The lowest duties collected under any of our tariff laws for more than half a century — yes, for more than three-quarters of a century — are the ones provided for in the Underwood tariff law. The rates collected on imports last year were less than 6 per cent. ad valorem, and there is not an important country in the world that does not have higher rates of duty. The amount of duty collected last year was $325,527,000 on imports, dutiable and free, with an average of ad valorem of less than 6 per cent. More than $5,000,000,000 worth of foreign imports came into this country in the calendar year 1920. Seventy-two per cent. of the duties collected last year were collected on nine items in that article bill.

FEW SIMPLE PRECAUTIONS WILL STOP FLOCK LOSSES.

By practicing a few simple precautions livestock shippers can do much to eliminate the enormous losses in stock, especially hogs, which occur during hot weather, according to members of the Animal Husbandry Department of the College of Agriculture. Hogs should be hauled or driven to the shipping station in ample time to allow them to become rested and cool before loading after which they may be loaded into cars that are clean and bedded with sand, clay or earth. The bedding and interior of the car should be thoroughly dampened before the car is loaded. Feeding the animals a heavy feed of grain before they are shipped results in more body heat being generated.

The stock to be shipped should be loaded not more than one hour before the train is to depart and should be loaded slowly and carefully, care being taken to avoid exciting or bruising the animals. Not more than 14,000 pounds of fat hogs should be placed in one car but 16,000 pounds of stock hogs may be placed in a standard 36-foot car during war weather. Water applied to the bedding in the car at available points will be found helpful in preventing the animals from becoming overheated. Ice should be used on the floor of the car whenever possible. Care should be taken to see that water is not thrown directly on the hogs after they become heated. Instead it should be run on the floor of the car under the hogs.

"Something to Think About"

Both of their hearts fed only on memories. Both of their lives seemed ruined. Behind them folly. Before them wealth without love. One day the Great Thing came—something even bigger than love—Something you'll think about, too. A romance that scales the heights and plumbs the depths of human experience set in a riot of color and beauty. A thrab with the mightiest heart appeal ever attained in a picture.

New York Letter

by
Lucy Jeanne Price

New York. — More than $1,000,000 worth of horses landed in New York from France the other day. There were 51 one of them, putting their average value at nearly $20,000 each—which put the handsomest automobiles to shame. The 51 were a part of the racing stable of the late W. K. Vanderbilt and include the famous Over-ought, which won over $100,000 in a year of racing in France. And now they are to be sold. One hundred and ten horses remain in the Vanderbilt stables in France.

Menhattan lauded to seeing a good many rather remarkable rights but often simple little pastimes arouse its curiosity to the boiling point. The other day a perfectly sane looking man was wading on the rocks at the base of the Battery sea wall, near the Customs House, and the sight of this usually more rural indulgence right there at the foot of Broadway was too much for the passers by. Every sort of explanation was discussed among the crowd that gathered to watch him. Looking for clams; hunting for his pipe that must have dropped from the well above; rumore of washed up treasures; and everything else that the prosaic human imagination can conceive. Finally the wader gripped the rocks and climbed to the sea wall. A chorus greeted him. "Did you find it?" "Find what?" he asked. "What you were looking for." "I wasn't looking for anything," he said. "The doctor prescribed that I wade in salt water to cure rheumatism. I'm doing it in the nearest salt water I can find to my office."

In spite of everything they say, the world does change—a little bit. I was looking at some examples of Greek sculpture. I don't want to seem flip-pant towards Art, but I do know that the beauties of our day would just sit down and weep if their measurements matched those of some of the old-time

BABY BORN ON PEACE DAY

After Mother Had Been Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Salisbury, Mass. — "For seven years I had a female trouble and such bearing-down pains I could hardly do my housework. The doctor said, 'If you can have another baby it might be the best thing for you but I am afraid you cannot.' I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and my baby was born on Peace Day." If Compound they would have better health. I always recommend your Vegetable Compound to the neighbors." — Mrs. TRACY PATTEN, 2 Lincoln Ave., Salisbury, Massachusetts.

The experience of maternity should not be approached without careful physical preparation, as it is impossible for a weak sickly wife to bring healthy children into the world. Therefore if a woman is suffering from a displacement, backache, inflammation, ulceration, bearing-down pains, headaches, nervousness or "the blues" she should profit by Mrs. Patten's experience, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and be restored to health.

engage a person for a model," I asked, "who was as broad and sort of round as most of the sculptured people are, even if she WERE a goddess?" The costumer shook her head. "I would not," she said. "And if my customers are that shape, I try to get them to change somehow. Thirty-six inch hips for five-foot five tall is as much as I can approve." I questioned. I decided to find if health and beauty could still go together, remembering how every-o-a-g used to say, "What a healthy-looking girl!" whenever a hundred and fifty pounder appeared. I went to Dr. R. Newman next, who, making a profession of taking pounds off too-wide people, has established his office right on Fifth avenue, in order to keep in touch with its standards as well as his own. "Can you be just as brutally healthy as—as a Greek goddess, for instance?" I asked, "and not weight like them?" "Healthier," he exclaimed. "You remember the terms of most of them? Well, then! That was poor health. Yes, these 1921 girls and matrons — and Grandmothers who are so slim and supple that they can wear any style pul upon them are probably the healthiest set the world has known, taken as a whole."

The rock-ribbed ineluctability of New England still crops out every once in a while. New York had no experience with it the other day. Henry Beetle Hough, president of the Edgartown, Mass., Chamber of Commerce came to town determined not to pay tribute to the hat checkers. As his boat docked at Fulton street, he tossed his hat into the Hudson, and landed in New York bareheaded. Moreover he remained just that way throughout his four days here. This lack of overhead apparel reduced his expense considerably and did not in the least interfere with his business or social program. He went to the theater, a banquet, college reunion and business-falking lunches. In the stores he was always mistaken for a floorwalker, but he didn't mind. "When I get back to Edgartown," said Mr. Hough, "I will buy the best hat in town with the money I saved in not paying hat check tips."

PATRIOTISM IS AROUSED FOR HOME DYE INDUSTRY

Kelly, of Pennsylvania, Speaks For Protection Provision in New American Tariff.

Washington, D. C. — Unstinted praise of the provision in the emergency tariff law which protects the dyestuffs industry of the United States is voiced by Representative Kelly, of Pennsylvania. He said: "This provision in the emergency tariff bill concerning dyestuffs and chemicals is recognition of the fact that we are on the verge of a new age. We have had the stone age and the iron age and are now in the electrical age. Just ahead in the chemical age, and with no enlightened policy America will be the leader of the world in its accomplishments."

"Coal tar is the most important basic material in the chemical world. In my own district for many years countless tons of coal tar from the old-style beehive coke ovens were wasted. Then it was discovered to be one of the most valuable products in the world."

"Now, in the new ovens it is being conserved and used for a thousand uses. Coal tar is the essence of the forests of by-gone years. It is one of the strategic products for war and peace. It wounds and heals. It supplies both munitions and medicines."

"Every tone of coal produces 120 pounds of tar. Out of the tar come 10 crude oils, which are converted into 300 secondary products or 'intermediates.' Through combinations of these chemical elements many thousand products are possible. There are today at least a thousand separate dyes produced from coal tar."

"The entire business has been dominated by Germany. The man who first made a dye from coal tar was an English chemist. In less than two years Germany had a complete monopoly of its production."

"When the war broke out we were importing nine-tenths of our dyes from Germany. Only seven firms and 528 persons were employed in the dye industry in the United States. Cut off from our supply by the war, we suffered greatly."

GREENS ARE VALUABLE FOODS DURING SUMMER

Greens are valuable food at all times, especially in the hot weather of summer, according to specialists on foods, who declare that hot-weather greens should be grown as extensively as spring greens. The latter are popular for it so happens that they are the first garden crops in the spring, but as the hot weather approaches they go to seed and most gardens are bare of greens, except for spinach, until the cool weather of fall arrives. In spite of the fact that they are strangers to many gardeners, Swiss Chard, New Zealand Spinach and Collards have all been found to be profitable hot-weather greens, according to J. H. Gardner, extension specialist in vegetable gardening from the College of Agriculture.

Swiss Chard is a beet bred to grow leaves instead of a root. Its culture is exactly the same as that of beets. The seed is sown in drills 1 to 24 inches apart being dropped an inch apart by the drill. When the plants have from two to four true leaves, they are thinned to stand about 8 inches apart; the thinnings making excellent greens. The plants from now on will make rapid growth, for they thrive in hot weather. Harvesting is done by pulling the outside leaves, with a downward pull, so as not to disturb the crown, which will throw out more leaves to be pulled later on. Under good garden conditions, a twenty-foot row will yield a bushel of greens a week, even though there is a pronounced shortage of rainfall. Swiss Chard can nicely be the same process recommended for spinach. The best variety to use is Giant Lucullus.

New Zealand Spinach is a somewhat different type of plant, the seed of which is sown in well prepared ground. The plant resembles the tomato plant in its branching habit. When two or three main branches have started, harvesting may begin, the end leaf-clusters being broken off. Generally only the end four leaves should be taken since the older leaves are inclined to be coarse in quality. New growth is continually taking place, even in hot dry weather, and continual harvesting may be done without injuring the plant. New Zealand Spinach will yield until frost. A dozen plants furnish a bushel a week, from midsummer on. The flavor is similar to that of the early spinach.

Collards belong to the cabbage family, resembling in many details the better known Kale. Seed is started as for midseason cabbage and set similarly to it in rows from 15 to 30 inches apart, and from 12 to 18 inches in the row. About July 1, cutting may begin or only the outside leaves may be harvested.

THRELKELD TRIAL AT NICHOLASVILLE

Jury Selected From Special Venue of Mercer County — Defendant Accused of Denman Killing.

Nicholasville, Ky., June 14.—Testimony in the second trial of Professor T. B. Threlkeld, head of the Threlkeld School for Boys here, who is charged with the murder of Arthur Denman in his store last October, began at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon with Judge Rhodes Shackleford, of Richmond on the bench.

The jury was completed at 1 o'clock and is composed of men from a special venire of fifty from Mercer county. Lawyers for the prosecution are Commonwealth's Attorney Benjamin Crutcher, Winchester; W. J. Baxter, John H. Welch, John Deering and James G. Denny, Lexington. Professor Threlkeld's lawyers are E. B. Hoover, of this city, and Maury Kemper, Lexington.

It is charged that Professor Threlkeld shot Denman while in the latter's clothing store as the result of a quarrel over the failure of Arthur and William Denman to purchase tickets to athletic events of the school. The first trial resulted in a hung jury, and the second was postponed on account of the illness of the defendant.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Harrison, of Commerce street, were called to Covington Tuesday on account of the death of the wife of her brother, Mrs. Robert Cord.

Waiting doesn't pay. If you neglect kidney backache, urinary troubles often follow. Donan's Kidney Pills are for kidney backache, and for other kidney ills. Ask your neighbor. Maysville citizens endorse them. Ben P. Fleming, country Constable, 228 Limestone street, Maysville, says: "I have used Donan's Kidney Pills off and on for several years when I have needed them. I always get Donan's at Wood & Son's drug store. I have been greatly benefited by them. At times my kidneys get out of order and I suffer with a dull constant ache through the small of my back and the kidney secretions are irregular in passage. A box or so of Donan's have never failed to relieve the trouble in a short time."

The above statement was given November 14, 1916, and on November 22, 1920, Mr. Fleming added: "I am glad to renew the statement I gave for publication some years ago as the cure Donan's Kidney Pills made for me is still permanent. I confirm my former statement in every detail as it was all true."

INTEREST TAKEN IN PURE BRED SHEEP SALE IS KEEN

Even More Interest Is Shown In Proposed Sheep Sale Than In Successful Cattle Sale.

Louisville, Ky.—Reports from livestock districts received in the last week in the effort to determine the sympathy of farmers and breeders for the better bred sheep movement of the Louisville Livestock Exchange show an even wider interest in high grade sheep than in the pure bred registered bull sale which was held so successfully at the Bourbon Stock Yards on June 2.

Letters from all parts of the state and even from Tennessee and Virginia are arriving daily at the Exchange asking as to the conditions of the sheep sale to be held August 11 when 200 purebred bucks and ewes and 2,000 high grade sheep will be sold at auction to farmers at the Bourbon Stock Yards.

Experts from the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture already have a survey of the sheep situation in the last year. Market quotations on the better grade animals as compared with the inferior show losses ranging into hundreds of thousands of dollars that would have been received had the animals all been high grade.

As Louisville now is the greatest lamb market of the world, with buyers from all of the principal packers on the American continent the development of the sheep industry promises to be one of the biggest investments with the most promising returns ever made by the farmers of the state.

With the demand constantly increasing by the buyers for the best grades and their willingness to pay fancy prices for "tops" and the cost of raising high grade animals no more than raising government experts and those interested in the livestock movement are emphasizing the importance of breeding better sheep at once.

According to E. L. German, traffic manager of the Bourbon Stock Yards, buyers are constantly becoming more discriminating. In their selections because of the insistence of the eastern trade for only the best for the customers.

W. S. Bell, president of the Louisville Livestock Exchange has taken up the question of having all the carcasses of spring lambs from this section of the country tagged by the packers indicating where they come from thus building up an appreciation for the quality of lambs grown in Kentucky by the critical. Such a movement, to which the packers have given their unanimous support, would place the lambs from Kentucky in a distinctive class and would give world advertisement to the sheep industry of this state.

"From this one thing alone, the advantage of stimulating the market to the demand for only the best, it should be apparent how much to the interest of the farmer it is that he breed high grade animals in order to receive the largest possible returns for his efforts and investment," declared Mr. Bell.

Back of the movement for better bred sheep are all of the resources of the United States Department of Agriculture eager to awaken the farmers of Kentucky to the profits in money and satisfaction to be derived.

Wm. Fox presents BUCK JONES in

THE BIG PUNCH

All-star cast includes Barbara Bedford and many others. A smashing drama of the western hills; a western story of thrills and heart interest; a tale of convicts, circuit riders and bad men in the west. A big punch in every scene and a terrible wallop for a climax. An intense drama of ex-convicts struggles to "come back." In this picture Buck Jones demonstrates that he is a daredevil of the screen.

ADMISSION 10 AND 15 CENTS.

TOMORROW — ALBERT CAPELLANI presents MARJORIE RAMBEAU in "THE FORTUNE TELLER." Supporting all-star cast includes Raymond McKee, Frederick Burton, Virginia Lee and others.
